POOL OPENS MAY 26, 2018

Yes, it is finally Spring, both on the calendar, and in the weather!

The Glenwood Pool Opens at 11am on Saturday, May 26, 2018.

Please be sure to get your rec cards out early so that you have them ready when you want to go to the pool. You MUST bring your Recreation card to the pool or admittance will not be granted. Please plan ahead. If you are bringing a child from the neighborhood, you MUST also have their card. If they live in Glenwood they are NOT A Guest and will not be able to pay a guest fee in place of a card.

A reminder that there is a limit of five guests per household with pool passes, and with the new guest pool pass card.

Passes will be validated at the beginning of June.

We look forward to a great 2018 pool season!!

CHANGES IN POOL GUEST PASSES FOR 2018 SEASON

Beginning this pool season, there will be a change in the method of bringing guest to the pool. It will no longer be a "pay at the gate" system, as we have converted to a punch card system. There will be a 5 punch and a 10 punch card. With the guest fee still being $2 per guest, the cards will cost $10 or $20. The cards do not expire, so they will be good for multiple seasons. Your account number will be on the card, so they will not be transferrable. The punch cards must be purchased from the office, in advance of going to the pool. The cards must be purchased using cash (exact change) or money order.

RECREATION CARDS

The scheduled photo dates are listed in the calendar inside. If you already have cards, they are still good. Watch the marquee for possible changes in dates. Everyone over the age of two will need a card. The replacement fee is $5.00 per card if it is lost. If the card is damaged, bring it to the office for a replacement at no charge. Please read the pool rules on line at www.glenwoodca.com. or stop by the office and request a copy.

The City of Virginia Beach is planning to hold an information meeting for the Indian River Road relocation project. They do not yet have a specific date or location. For those owners who live along this corridor, there are some incorrect statements being disseminated in regard to the taking of property. The only place to seek the correct information is through the City of Virginia Beach. We are working with them to obtain as many details as possible, however, we do not have all of the answers as of the preparation of this newsletter. Information regarding the public meeting will be in the Virginian Pilot or Beacon, and it will be posted on the Association website.

Thunderstorm Safety – Avoiding a Lightning Strike

Warm weather usually means fun in the sun, but summer heat also can bring severe weather. Threatening thunderstorms often loom large on summer afternoons so it's important to be prepared for downpours and accompanying lightning, which can strike outdoors or indoors. Consider the following suggestions when planning both outdoor and indoor events this summer to reduce the risk of a lightning strike.

- * Watch the weather. Pay attention to your local weather forecast before participating in outdoor activities. If there's a chance of thunderstorms, consider rescheduling or moving events indoors. If that's not possible, have an emergency plan in place in case a severe storm rolls in and designate a sufficient nearby structure as an emergency shelter.

- * Stay inside. If severe thunderstorms are imminent, go indoors and wait until they pass. Safe, enclosed shelters include homes, schools, offices, shopping malls and vehicles with hard tops and closed windows. Open structures and spaces do not provide adequate protection.

- * Duck and crouch. If you're caught outside during a severe storm, it's important to crouch low on the ground, tuck your head and cover your ears to help protect yourself from harm. Do not lie down; lightning strikes can produce extremely strong electrical currents that run along the top of the ground, and laying horizontally increases electrocution risk.

- * Turn off faucets. During a thunderstorm, lightning can sometimes be conducted through the plumbing. Avoid any type of contact with running water, including bathing, showering, and washing your hands, dishes, or clothes.

- * Turn off electronics. All electrical appliances—televisions, computers, laptops, gaming systems, stoves, and more—that are plugged into an electrical outlet could carry a current from a lightning strike. Surge protectors will reduce the risk of damaging electronics.

- * Stay away from windows. Not only is lightning a threat, but high winds and hail create flying debris that could be harmful during a thunderstorm. Close all windows and doors and keep away from them.

How to Have the Smartest Home on the Block

With all the talk about smart technology and connected homes, you may be wondering why you should take notice. After all, it is not that difficult or inconvenient to turn your lights on and off. Smart technology is not just about convenience. It is not even just about lighting. It is also about energy efficiency and safety.

Efficiency Smart technology allows you to connect your home's electronic devices to one device, such as a phone, tablet or computer. Having a connected home means you have the ability to adjust your thermostat, open and close window shades, and activate your security system remotely, or program those devices to operate automatically at pre-set times. You can even go so far as to connect to your refrigerator and microwave.

Efficiency is important, but safety is paramount. With the ability to connect to your home's devices from anywhere in the world comes the peace of mind of not wondering if your security system is activated and knowing your outside and inside lights will be on before you arrive home after dark.

Convenience home automation apps make it a snap to change your room into the perfect setting for different activities. For example, for movie night, a system can be pre-programmed to adjust all the lights in your family room to set the scene for a great movie-watching experience.

If installing and operating smart technology equipment sounds complicated and expensive, it's not. There are some simple and surprisingly inexpensive options available on today's market. A number of manufacturers, offer reasonably priced, easy-to-install automation products designed to make your home more comfortable, convenient and safe. In many cases, it just takes simple retrofitting of an existing dimmer switch. All you have to do is take your existing dimmer or switch out of the wall and replace it with a smart dimmer or switch, add a smart bridge and you have the ability to control it from an app, or from voice control with Alexa, Google Assistant or Siri. For added ease, a wireless system can be integrated with Apple, Amazon or Google platforms for use inside your home. And when you are outside, an app or geofencing allows you to adjust your inside and/or outside lights, even before you arrive home.

Smart technology can help make our homes more inviting, comfortable and most of all, safe.

The Glenwood Annual Golf Tournament, to be held at Honeybee Golf Course, will be September 21, 2018.

HOW TO STAY HYDRATED LIKE A PRO ALL SUMMER

Many of us spend our summer soaking up the sun. Kids are out of school, outdoor sports are plenty, and people are enjoying warm weather activities. However, spending a lot of time outside in the elements puts you at risk for dehydration-related concerns.

While most people know that water is critical for your health, what you may not know is that water makes up about 55 to 65 percent of your body. Many may be surprised to know that losing only four percent of your body weight -- roughly the equivalent of riding a bike for three hours in extreme heat without rehydrating -- may cause you to faint.

The following simple tips will help you stay well hydrated this summer:

- * Sip with purpose; don't chug. -- When you drink too much water at once, it passes through your system too quickly, failing to go to the kidneys. This can lead to dehydration despite the amount of water you may be drinking. Drinking too much water can also cause cramping, as well as bloating and stomach pains, due to loss of electrolytes. Aim to take a sip of water every 15-20 minutes when you're playing sports or when it's hot outside and you should be right on track.
- * Aim to drink 3 liters a day. -- The age-old 8-glasses-a-day rule doesn't always suffice in the hot summer months. People should try to drink 12 glasses a day, especially if they are planning on working out, playing sports or spending excessive amounts of time in the sun.
- * Bring water with you. -- Spending more time out of the house often means less easy access to water. When you leave for a day at the beach, make sure you throw enough bottles of water in your beach bag to last throughout the day. Keeping a case of water in your car is another way to ensure you'll always have water on hand.
- * Limit sun exposure. -- Not shielding yourself properly in the sun causes you to sweat more, which can lead to quicker dehydration. Wearing cotton clothes that are breathable in the heat and a hat that covers your ears will help protect you from potentially dangerous health issues such as heat exhaustion.

Whether you're an athlete, a weekend warrior or just want to take better care of yourself, staying hydrated is essential to a healthy body, especially during the hot summer months.

DON'T DISCOUNT SAFE DRIVING THIS SUMMER

Summertime brings longer days and ideal driving conditions to much of the United States. However, summer weather can also lull drivers into a false sense of security, according to data from a survey conducted by Michelin.

Approximately two-thirds of the drivers surveyed (67 percent) reported feeling safer while driving during the summer; their top reasons were better weather (81 percent) and better road conditions (83 percent). However, more car accidents occur during the summer months than at any other time of year, according to the National Highway Traffic Safety Administration.

The Michelin survey found that 81 percent of drivers said they drove less cautiously in the summer, while 72 percent said they were less likely to pay attention to fellow drivers. Also, drivers were nearly three times less likely to check their tires during summer months. "Drivers tend to think about their tires in the winter, when slippery, icy roads require maximum traction. But heat is the enemy of tires," Sarah Robinson, driving safety expert at Michelin, says in a statement. "Some of the most severe tire-related incidents are due to under-inflated tires in summer months."

To combat potential hazards, Michelin offers several tips for safe summer driving:

- Give your car a tune-up. Before a summer road trip, check your car's oil and fluids, battery, windshield wipers, and tires.
- Check your tires. Use the penny test to ensure your tire tread, and check tire pressure using the manufacturer's setting found on the driver's door.
- Focus fully on your driving. Avoid using your phone, eating, or tending to children or pets in the backseat. Furthermore, pull over for a break when you start to feel tired, and switch drivers if possible.
- Watch your distance. Always keep a safe following distance to maneuver in case of emergency, even on dry roads.
- Carry an emergency kit. Keep an emergency bag in your car with water, blankets, flashlight, jumper cables, and non-perishable food.

Stay safe and enjoy the summer ride.
